

the season and of wide experience the custom of the road was wet and stayed wet for two months. The ground had been saturated and the sloughs that every drop of moisture which reached the ground became an overflow. As a consequence we had an early summer of unexampled high water and impassable roads. Town and country was in a state of mutual blockade for a time. The condition was serious—very serious—and there was a general desire to blame somebody. The local government came in for its full share and there were many strenuous efforts to place blame upon the federal government. At last the weather changed. The waters abated with marvellous rapidity and for several months past the roads have been better than they were for years. Not through the strenuous efforts of the local government—although that government was unceasingly energetic—but through the change of the weather. All the governments on earth could not have made the roads good during the season of the heavy rains and no government could keep them bad when the rains ceased for a long time. While the roads were bad there was very little use in theorizing. And when nature was improving them more rapidly than man possibly could there was little to be said. But now, that the duty of preparing for another season has begun a discussion of ways and means is an order.

There had been a large amount of money spent on roads in this, as in other districts of the Territories, during the past ten years at least; and as it seemed while the bad weather held, without beneficial result. The reason that past expenditures were not found beneficial during the very high water was first that those expenditures had never been made on a scale that would meet the exceptional conditions of the two past seasons, and second that they had not been made with especial regard to the improvement of the leading roads. This applies to statute labor as well as to Northwest government expenditure. The need for large expenditures on the leading roads was not apparent and people would not endorse it. Why should an expensive bridge be built if a cheaper one would do? Why should money be spent improving the appearance of a leading road when isolated settlers or groups of settlers could not reach the road at all. These were the arguments which M. L. A's and road overseers had to face, in apportioning the expenditure, and they were arguments which under the weather conditions prevailing for fifteen years could not be answered. But they were answered fully and completely by the conditions prevailing during the past two seasons. With that experience recently and vividly in their minds people are now ready to concede the necessity of money being spent to improve leading roads, for unless the leading road can be travelled when it is reached there is no use clearing out or improving side roads by which to reach it. There is just a possibility that people may run to the other extreme and demand such heavy expenditures on leading roads as will cripple the opening up of necessary cross roads.

There is no doubt that the limited area and the limited resources of statute labor districts, was a great, if not an insurmountable barrier to these districts doing effective work in improving the leading roads. The interests governing the distribution of labor within each district were essentially local. It could hardly be expected that attention would be paid by the statute labor district to the main road which passed through the township but was of less use to the residents and the people who were doing the statute labor than to the people living beyond it. Again the inconvenience of handling the statute labor was a great drawback to doing effective work on the leading road. The resident possibly and naturally objected to being brought so far from home to do his statute labor.

No doubt the statute labor law has its advantages and some good work has been done under its provisions. But a feeling is growing up, especially since the past two seasons, that the system will have to be improved in order to deal effectively with the road question. It is universally conceded that if cash were paid instead of labor the overseer could get better results for the money. This may not be a sufficient reason for levying a cash tax, but it certainly is a reason well worth considering. It is poor policy to put

SLIGHTLY IN ERROR.

A great deal depends on the point of view. The trip of the conservative leader and his party through the west looks different to them from what it did to the people of the West, judging from the statement made by E. F. Clarke, M. P., to the Mail-Emire on his return to Toronto. Mr. Clarke said that the trip had proved an eminently successful one. "Mr. Borden was everywhere received with marked enthusiasm," "Mr. Borden completely dissipated the idea that it was intended to make Western Canada a kind of appendage to the eastern provinces." That Mr. Borden and his party were well treated and listened to respectfully during their tour of the west is undoubted. Why should they not be? But his is a most sanguine disposition which translates common courtesy into enthusiasm and acceptance. Although Mr. Borden and his friends trod very lightly on the tariff question there was no mistaking that they were the advocates of a policy of making Western Canada an appendage of eastern manufacturing. And the oftener and the longer they talked the more that fact became apparent, the more so as there was an evident effort at concealment.

EDMONTON COAL FOR LOCOMOTIVES

An important result of the advent of the Canadian Northern in Edmonton is the daily demonstration of the suitability of Edmonton coal for locomotive firing. In the past many efforts had been made to get the C. P. R. to use local coal without result. They were indeed to make one or two half hearted experiments, but the verdict was that it was unsuitable. Since the arrival of the Canadian Northern engine it has used nothing but Edmonton coal from McKernan's mine, and Manager Pace says that no difficulty is experienced in getting enough steam. The first attempt was a failure as a different method of handling the coal was necessary. But after a few trials the proper combination was found and the coal works very well. At present it burns away somewhat more rapidly than Lethbridge coal, but Mr. Pace thinks that a change could be made in the grates that would ensure a considerable saving and probably give as much power from a certain quantity as in the case of any other coal. This will mean a great deal to both the district and the railway when the through line is built. Although no heavy trains have been hauled as yet the fact that the locomotive is operating almost entirely on a one per cent grade is a very good indication that the coal raises steam satisfactorily.

LAND OFFICE BUSINESS.

The records of the amount of business transacted at the land office show a steady increase, and are a satisfactory proof that the Edmonton district is being rapidly peopled. An especially good sign is the great increase in the number of applications for patents.

Below are given some of the figures for last month compared with the same month last year and the year before.

Sugar Factory for Manitoba.

Tribune: A company of Americans are negotiating for the purchase of 14,000 acres of land near West Selkirk for the cultivation of sugar beets and for the erection of a sugar factory at that point. It is claimed that the raising of sugar beets is now quite well established as feasible, by the experiments carried on this year, and that West Selkirk presents the best facilities for the erection and successful carrying on of a sugar factory, a concern which requires an outlay of half a million dollars to bring it to completion.

the various Webster's new wool progressing steadily. very tedious task as the machinery was all taken to pieces to strip up here, and to reassemble the numerous pieces of each machine was no small task. However, the work is almost completed and the machines commenced moving on trial to-day. With a few days adjusting they will commence on regular factory work.

A car of wool is being brought up from Calgary, which with the stock already on hand will keep the mill at work till June. By that time there should be fresh supplies available. Tuesday a quantity of wool was dyed. A large dryer is being installed to dry the wool after being dyed.

The mill is heated throughout by steam. In a room off one end a grain crusher has been set up and the engine has been employed for some time grinding feed for local trade.

More Protests Dropped.

Calgary Herald, Toronto, Ont., Nov. 3.—Election protests are to be dropped in six more constituencies as follows: Three Liberals, Hon. J. M. Gibson, East Wellington; J. R. Barber, Hinton; R. A. Thompson, North West; and three Conservatives, Dr. Larkner, North Waterloo; W. D. MacLeod, Glangarry; & G. Gallagher, Frontenac. The belief is now gaining ground that Mr. Ross will have a majority when he meets the house.

The Alberta Land Company
Has 20,000 acres of as fine land as can be selected in Beaver Lake, Vermilion and Birch Lake country.
These lands are adapted to both raising grain and stock. There are three lines of proposed Railroads running through this part of the country. These lands can never be bought cheaper than now. We are selling every day and they are not going to last long. Improve the opportunity and place your money where you are sure of securing a good profit by the investment.
Many invest in Mining, some in Oil, some in Bonds; only a few reach the goal; the rest find their hard earned money gone with only a piece of nice paper to tell the story. Why not buy a piece of land one-half mile square to look at and see it increase from year to year in value until it makes you and yours a nice little fortune? It will surely come. It is only a question of time.
We solicit your trade. Call or write and get maps and information of these cheap lands.

overshadowed unintentionally I acceptabilities. I have reached for meddling which were under the control other departments than my From my seat in parliament, I ask my colleagues to reply to me in a malevolent attack.

"Indeed, when my officers reported to me that a dozen buoys were out of place in the St. Lawrence, I made it my duty to write without delay to my colleague, the minister of marine and fisheries. Indeed, when during my voyages on the lakes, in the river, in the gulf, I was impressed with the need of more buoys, more lighthouses, I addressed myself to the minister who has charge of this important work. Indeed, when people have asked me, in my own province, especially, to see that this, or that service—such as a post office, for example—should be improved in this or that district, I naturally went to my colleague, the postmaster-general.

"I have been for nearly thirty years a journalist. I have travelled much throughout Canada. It was natural that people should apply to me. The French groups in various sections of the confederation have often entrusted me with difficult and delicate missions. I have fulfilled them to the best of my ability. I have, in all this, endeavored to serve the interests of my country, of my race and of my party.

"There are times when a minister who knows that he represents considerable interests is obliged to hold firm, at the risk of creating opponents to himself. At the beginning, my situation was especially embarrassing. I had belonged for a long time to the conservative party. If anything happened, or did not happen, which was displeasing to certain groups, it was I who was the culprit; I was a conservative.

"I would not desire my worst enemy to have to travel the road which I have been forced to cover. My re-entering into private life is not a surprise for those who are among my intimate friends. I desired to retire before the elections of 1900; I have desired to retire since then. I yielded to the pressing solicitations of my personal friends, and I remained. The constitutional pretext, which is the cause of my departure, is nothing but a shallow argument.

"I thank Sir Wilfrid Laurier for having done me the honor to confide to me the important portfolio of minister of public works on July 13, 1896.

"I have learned to know my country, its immense resources, its possibilities for development. My experience will not be lost. I shall utilize it in my career as a journalist, and as a member of parliament. I have served my leader and my party faithfully, loyally, honorably. For one, or the other, I have never spared my time, my energy or my devotion.

"My views on the fiscal situation, which confronts this country, are, I have the profound conviction, those of the very great majority of the Canadian people and of the liberal party. A tariff of defence for our national interests, of firm protection, without ambiguity, for our industries, our agriculture, our working classes. That is the policy of to-morrow! That is the policy which I will continue to defend with my pen, with my speech, and from my seat in parliament.

"J. ISRAEL TARTÉ."

The Tale Varies.
Mr. Borden recently addressed the junior conservative club of Montreal. In the course of his speech he alluded to his western tour. The Mail-Emire reports him as saying:

"Everywhere we preached the good old liberal-conservative doctrine of adequate protection for the legitimate industries of Canada. (Applause.) We told the people of the West that we did not believe there were any Canadians so small of soul that they did not want to see all types of industry in Canada prosper." (Applause.) They had referred to the natural resources of the different provinces, the iron and other mining products of Nova Scotia, the great natural riches of the great western belt, and they pointed out that a home market meant more than any other to all those different sections, because one consumer in the home market was worth fifty in a foreign country. If the Canadian people could build up the east as in the west, for they observed possibilities of industrial development in Western Canada with a truly national policy, Canada could live independently of any other nation on earth. Canada lay for four thousand miles along the greatest farming and manufacturing country in the world, whose markets were kept for its own people by protective tariffs. They pointed out that Canada, at the present time, was the third best customer the United States had in all products, and the very best they had in manufactured products. Unless, therefore, Canadians adopted an ade-

Ambition of G. T. R.

Free Press, Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31.—"There is no question," says a Detroit gentleman, who has recently talked with General Manager Hayes, "that the Grand Trunk will become a transcontinental line. Mr. Hayes told me that if it took two, five or ten years to accomplish it, the Grand Trunk will go to the Pacific coast. This will be done by a traffic agreement or the absorption of other lines as far west as this can be done, and one of the roads that will thus be brought into the Grand Trunk system is the St. Louis and San Francisco. This might be considered absurd if any other man than Mr. Hayes was back of the plan, but I believe he will accomplish it, and other railroad men think the same thing.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

On Wednesday afternoon, Jack, the 14 year old son of Henry Fraser met with a very painful accident, which may yet prove serious, from the bursting of a small rifle in his hands. As it was he had a narrow escape.

The rifle was a 22 calibre model with bolt attachment for loading and firing similar to the army rifle. It appears the boy had been cleaning the barrel when the piece of rag he was using for the purpose jammed and he could not pull it out with the wire attached. This is a common occurrence with rifles of all bore.

He accordingly devised a scheme whereby the difficulty would be instantly solved, that was to shoot the rag out. A cartridge was inserted, after first extracting the ball from it, and holding the rifle across his knees the boy fired it off.

The result was most peculiar. The rag did not move nor did the barrel burst as might have been expected. But the force of the powder recoiled, blowing the bolt back its full length and splintering to pieces the wooden stock. The boy's left hand had been held almost over the worst place and was badly cut and torn over the entire palm and the exposed flesh blackened with powder. It rapidly swelled up to great size. His right leg between the knee and thigh was also cut and blackened with powder.

Medical aid was at once summoned and the wounds dressed. The boy is progressing as well as could be expected, and unless blood poisoning sets in will soon be all right again.

NEW LUNNON.

A largely attended meeting of the ratepayers of parts of townships 56 and 57 range 23, west of 4th M., was held at the house of Mr. H. Asley, New Lunnun, on Friday, Oct. 31st, at 1 o'clock p. m. to consider and determine the forming the proposed district into a public school district under chapter 29, of the ordinance of 1901.

Mr. W. Mason, J. P., was called to the chair.

Upon a poll being taken it was decided by a majority of those present that a school district be formed. The chairman then called for nominations for trustees when the following three were nominated; W. Taylor, Wm. Mason and J. McDue. There being no other nominations at the end of 30 minutes the chairman declared that the time for receiving nominations had expired and that the three gentlemen named were duly elected.

There are at the present time twenty children of school age residing in the district, and the land is nearly all taken up or bought.

The threshing outfit of Mr. Hewitt, whilst threshing on the farm on Thursday last of Mr. W. J. Cruel, set fire to one of the stacks of oats which was entirely consumed. A spark from the engine is supposed to have caused the fire as no spark arrester was used upon the engine.

A large amount of fall ploughing has been done through this district, which will help the farmers a great deal in the spring.

J. Clayton, of Calgary, is in this part buying up cattle for his ranch. Nov. 1, '02.

LEUDC.

A meeting of the gentlemen of Leduc village was held last Friday evening to discuss the advisability of starting a skating rink. The scheme received very encouraging financial support and it was decided to go ahead with construction as soon as a suitable site could be obtained. The desired location is on Main street opposite the Waldorf Hotel. The dimensions will be large enough to accommodate both hockey and curling.

Mr. Brown, farmer of Clearwater, had the misfortune to break his leg just above the ankle one day last week while placing logs for a granary which he and his sons were building.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Holden spent last Sunday with relatives in Strathcona.

Numerous cases of the fever in the horse family have resulted fatally hereabouts.

Ezra O'Neill has sold his entire livery outfit and rented his business stand to J. J. Flood for a term of two years.

CHURCH OPENING.

The new Presbyterian church at Naino will be opened on the 16th inst. The dedicatory service will be conducted by the Rev. Alex. Forbes, B. D. of Fort Saskatchewan, at 11 a. m. A children's service will be held at 3 p. m. at which the ordinance of baptism will be administered. The Rev. A. Forbes and Rev. D. G. McQueen, of Edmonton, will take part in the service. The evening service at 7:30 o'clock will be conducted by the Rev. D. G. McQueen.

On Monday evening, the 17th inst., there will be a tea meeting at which tea will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock, to be followed by a programme of music and addresses. The choir of the Edmonton congregation will assist at all the services and the tea meeting. Sunday collections and proceeds of tea meeting in aid of building fund.

Horrible Suicide.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 2.—The 14-year-old son, of William Soehrensen, a farmer living near Pipestone, Minn., committed suicide by setting fire to a straw pile and throwing himself into the flames.

It is alleged that inhuman treatment on the part of his parents was the cause of the deed.

RE ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

The work of moving the machinery from the old electric light plant to the new electric light and water power plant is progressing steadily. Only one or two and a few odd pieces of machinery are left at the old plant. The new machinery is already in position in the new plant and yesterday and to-day the boilers are being installed.

The engineer has been advised of the shipment of the pin for the crank shaft and states that on its arrival the engine, boilers, dynamo and connecting rods will be in position so that it will require a few minutes to put the engine in place and start the dynamo to work. He expects to have the lights turned on in two weeks or less.

Workmen have been busy stringing wires from the new plant, putting up new poles in various parts of the town and revising the system generally so that the best results may be obtained from the new plant. The new machinery, however, will not be ready to replace the old before New Year's.

NEW HOCKEY RINK.

The last arch bent of Secord's hockey rink was raised yesterday. There are 9 arches in all. The height is 43 feet. The difficult task of raising them was performed by Sam McCauley's gang without a hitch or an accident to any one. They are now firmly braced in position, and the dome roof will be put on immediately.

The sheet of ice enclosed with the 18x60 feet, besides room for spectators. Seven tiers of seats will be erected the full length of the building on both sides. Commodious waiting rooms will be built across the south end with glass partition next the rink to admit of full view of the games. The galleries and waiting rooms will easily seat 2,000 spectators.

The work is being carried forward with all haste and everything will be ready in good time for the roaring game. Rebuilding of the curling rink is also progressing favorably.

JUST WAKENED UP.

Under a scare head on the first page the Free Press publishes a telegram from Montreal dated October 3rd, announcing that the C. P. R. has informed the Calgary & Edmonton that the present agreement will be terminated on its expiry. It also announces that the bondholders' committee has issued a circular urging the shareholders to deposit their securities with them so that they may secure the most advantageous terms in future negotiations. This telegram contains information which appeared in full in the Bulletin some weeks ago copied from the report of the shareholders' meeting published in a London, England, paper. The Free Press should not give such ancient matter as late telegraphic news.
